SPOKANE CHAPTER MEETING

WHERE: Longhorn Barbecue on 2315 N. Argonne Rd.

Speaker and Topic: Ryan Niemeyer is a postdoctoral researcher with UC Santa Barbara. He is working with UCSB, Washington State University, and University of Idaho researchers studying how forest thinning in dry forests of the Northwest impacts streamflow and forest resilience to drought. He is connecting with forest owners and managers in eastern Washington and northern Idaho to be able to learn about forest thinning on private land and share information about the forest thinning project. More information about the project can be found at <https://rniemeyer4.wixsite.com/nwforestthinning>.
