

2019 Steven D. Stinson Leadership in Natural Resources Scholarship
Award Recipient

Dylan Streeter has been selected to receive a $1,370 scholarship. Dylan was born and raised in the small town of Okanogan, Washington, for the majority of his life, until last year, when he moved to Moscow, Idaho, to further his education. Growing up in north central Washington, Dylan enjoyed how there was always something fun to do in the outdoors. Nearly all of his free time was spent hunting, fishing, hiking, playing sports, or exploring the land surrounding his house. Through all of his experiences growing up, he knew he wanted a career in the natural resources field. As soon as Dylan was able to drive, he found a job working at Corbin Ranch, a 3,000-acre ranch outside of Okanogan. Working on the ranch, Dylan gained many valuable skills, and was able to gain an understanding of the importance of proper forest and land management, paving his way to a career in forestry. While the work was hard and hot, he enjoyed every minute of working on Corbin Ranch. Dylan graduated from Okanogan High School with all of his childhood friends in 2018, and found work on a wildland firefighting crew for the summer. After the fire season ended, he moved to Moscow to attend the University of Idaho, where he is currently pursuing a degree in forestry, with a minor in rangeland management. In the summer of 2019, Dylan will be working at the Okanogan Conservation District as a forest health and fire preparedness intern. He is looking forward to what his future has to offer, and entering into the forestry community!
